Judge Young should read up on silver, in THE INDEPENDENT TOMORROW.

It is wearisome business, this waiting for a ship canal. Perhaps Senator Howells is right.

Judging from various county movements under contemplation, THE INDEPENDENT said last night that it was high time to sit down hard on official extravagance, and the board of trade did that very thing.

Taxation without representation, gentlemen of the city of Canton, is tyranny. Consequently THE INDEPENDENT rejoices at the action of the Massillon board of trade. Now for Alliance. Let the east end city's improvement association follow the same course.

That was a splendid meeting of the board of trade last night, and it was particularly gratifying to THE INDEPENDENT. The silence which is for the present enjoined, concerning a part of the proceedings prevents any further observations upon this interesting matter.

The bill introduced by Speaker Hysell, to prevent railroad companies or members thereof from engaging in the coal and other branches of business along their line, hits at a growing evil, by which the independent coal operators of this city have suffered for a long time. It should pass.

Trade relations have been established with Brazil under the provisions of the McKinley tariff law. We are to let Brazilian coffee, sugars, hides, and molasses come in free, and in return the Brazilian government has agreed to the admission of the following articles free of duty:

"Wheat, wheat flour; corn or maize and the manufactures thereof, including corn meal and corn starch; rye, rye flour, buckwheat, buckwheat flour, and barley; potatoes, beans and peas; hay and oats; pork, salted, including pickled pork and bacon, except hams; fish, salted, dried, or pickled; cotton seed oil, coal, anthracite and bituminous; rosin, tar, pitch, and turpentine; agricultural tools, implements, and machinery; mining and mechanical tools, implements, and machinery, including stationary and portable engines, and all machinery for manufacturing and industrial purposes, except sewing machines, instruments, and books for the arts and sciences; railway construction and material and equipment."

Again we have an illustration of the Republican idea of protection in one of its best forms.

Mr. Halstead does not approve of Senator-elect Peffer's exultation at all. He writes:

"Poor Peffer does not know any better. He thinks his election caused a vibration in the European countries. The fall of Ingalls is not anything very alarming. We suppose he will find it very hard not to be a power in public affairs for a while, but he can write and talk pretty well, and get a living out of his word painting. Perhaps he overestimated himself, but that is a common failing. Poor Peffer's talk about 'corporate powers of the East' shows how poverty-stricken is his mind. The corporate powers of the East do not care a button about Ingalls, and Peffer is to them merely an amusing ass. They are barely aware of his existence, and they are not alarmed about the Peffers. There are always a parcel of Peffers. There will be a little more slop than usual in the congressional record; and as soon as the Peffer business is fairly rolled before the country somebody will kick, and it will fly in fragments like a decayed pumpkin."

AT THE COUNTY SEAT.

Snatches of News from City and the Court House.

CANTON, Feb. 6.—Two petitions for partition have been filed in Common Pleas Court, in which James McConnell is plaintiff and Solomon and Moses Clay are defendants. The estate of which it is desired that partition be made, is situated in Jackson township, and consists of two hundred acres of land. Litigation has been pending for nearly forty years, it being impossible to bring suit until the death of Mrs. McConnell, who had a life dower in the estate. Mrs. McConnell died Tuesday evening and O. E. Young, attorney for McConnell, the plaintiff, filed his petition early Thursday morning.

Fifteen minutes later, two suits for partition of the same estate were filed through Attorney James Sterling, in which Moses Clay is plaintiff and Edward Clay and James McConnell are defendants. As the cases take precedence from the time of the service of the summons, Mr. Young's suit has the preference, consequently he has won the first fall. Moses Clay appeared in the court house Thursday morning in the interest of the suit brought by him, and was surprised to have summons served on him to appear as defendant in a suit brought by one of the parties whom he made defendant in the petition filed by him. The case will be watched with interest.

Dr. D. P. Maxwell was arraigned in court this morning on the charge of causing the death of Lillian Bordner, by criminal malpractice. He pleaded not guilty. The trial was set for March 9. The bond has been reduced to $2,000.

Some time ago the mother of Lizzie Kline, who was injured by a Valley train, and who subsequently died, began suit against the railroad for damages. She employed Jones and Hudson to look after her interests. They compromised for $150. Mrs. Kline declares the compromise was effected without her consent and legal steps may follow.

Marriage licenses have been issued to the following persons: Fred Witter and Mary Anderson, Canton; Jacob Webber and Nora Shilling, Canton; Otto Miller and Mary Wittman, Massillon; Bradford Britton and Mary Newhouse, Marlboro; J. A. Merely and Lizzie Hook, Canton.

The Post committee of the G. A. R., the citizens' committee and the committee from the Horticultural Society, will meet Wednesday for the purpose of perfecting plans for the erection of a memorial hall in Canton. It is the purpose of this committee to formulate plans for the construction of such a hall, the expense to be borne jointly by Stark county, the city of Canton, and individual citizens.

THE NATION'S WARDS:

In his letter to be published tomorrow, Mr. Nye puts his shoulder to the wheel of national affairs and braces Uncle Sam up by solving the Indian problem. He acts in this matter in the same way that an egg acts on boarding house coffee. He settles it. Mr. Nye deals gently but firmly with Lo, and the Independent is convinced that after his sanguine friends have read his remarks they will seek some secluded spot and find a hole. Then they will crawl into the hole and pull it in after them. Gen. Miles will be out of a job.

THEIR BEST PRODUCTION.

"The Drummer Boy of Shiloh" at Bucher's Last Night.

The Sons of Veterans have reason to feel very well satisfied with the success that attended the first production of that sterling old military drama, "The Drummer Boy of Shiloh," at Bucher's last night. The five acts and sixteen scenes kept the audience entertained until well into the night, but the interest was thoroughly sustained, while the booming of cannon, rattle of musketry, and smoke of the battle were of the most realistic character.

The most of the participants have so frequently taken part in the annual productions of the Sons of Veterans that the rough edges of amateurishness were nearly worn off. The patriotic outbursts and thrilling situations were such as to create unbounded enthusiasm. The comedian part falls to Mr. A. F. Nail, the manager, who controls the play, and as a matter of course, he sustained his professional reputation. Such roles as required graces of person and impressive dignity were assigned to those veterans at real and mimic war, Captain Crawford, John Ellis, Frank Shallenberger, Ed Doozee and Charles Higginbotham. The full cast was as follows:

Farmer Howard.....O. P. Kline
Mart Howard.....Tos. Kay
Harry Howard.....Wm. B. Martin
Johnny Howard.....Harry Kigdon
Farmer Elliot.....Joe Springer
Tom Elliot.....Ed Kigdon
Major Rutledge.....John Martin
Fatty Smith.....Frank Stucker
Will Smith.....Thos. Karrer
Uncle Joe.....L. A. Nail
Major General.....John Ellis
Chief of staff.....Chas. Higginbotham
Alde de Camp.....Ed Doozee
Colonel Robt. non.....Ed Doozee
Captain of Company D.....H. W. Elbas
Captain of Company A.....Geo. Shuff
Brigadier General.....R. B. Crawford
Commodore.....Ed Genet
Confederate Officers:
General Johnson.....Frank Shallenberger
Chief of Staff.....Sherman Budd
General Cheatham.....F. S. Hopkins
Captain Company H.....Geo. Wagner
Lady Charles.....Levo Stevens
Mother Howard.....Jane Ellis
Miss Mart Howard.....Mrs. Dr. Gardner
Mrs. Elliot.....Arabella Malers
Mrs. Major R. tiege.....Oma Brown
Goddess of Liberty.....Stella Horning

The play will be repeated this evening and to-morrow evening.

EYES ON THE TREASURY.

vested in the mayor, and the necessary verbal changes in the bill were ordered.

IT WILL TAKE A TWO-THIRDS VOTE.

The following resolution, by W. F. Ricks, was read by the secretary:

Resolved, That the Hon. Anthony Howells be requested to insert in the bonding bills, providing for a reet improvement, and the building of a city hall, now before the legislature, a clause requiring each proposition to be submitted to the people, a vote of two-thirds to be required in order to secure passage.

Mr. Ricks took occasion to say that the statement that the board of trade was antagonistic to the city council, in any way, was unauthorized, as the board had held no meeting since the broaching of the city hall and paving projects, and only individual opinions had been voiced. To this extent the board of trade had been misrepresented. City Senator Young thought that the requirement of a two-thirds majority was altogether too great, and moved to amend by striking out the two-thirds and substituting three-fifths. The amendment was lost, receiving only a few votes, and the resolution as presented was adopted. Mr. Ricks said that he offered the resolution as Mr. Howells had requested some such action.

IMPORTANT RAILROAD TALK.

P. G. Albright outlined the condition of the Massillon & Cleveland railroad, extending from Massillon to Clinton, and operated under a lease, by the Pennsylvania Company, for freight only. He had reason to believe that the Pennsylvania Company would consent to operate the road more to the satisfaction of the public or would sell their lease which had yet seventy-nine years to run. In the latter event, he thought that a favorable traffic arrangement might be made with the B. & O.

Mr. Ricks moved, and it was agreed to, that this important matter be referred to the committee on railroads, to communicate with the Pennsylvania Company, as Mr. Albright advised, and endeavor to obtain some sort of a proposition.

Senator Howells thought it might be well to ascertain the wish of those present as to the location of a city hall, in case it should be built. Quite a number thought that opinions upon that subject might just as well be held back until some time in the dim future, and that in the mean time' none of the sites would run away.

The board adjourned about 10 o'clock, and immediately thereafter the executive board went into session.

The Executive Board.

A meeting of the executive board was held, with closed doors, after the adjournment of the board of trade, last night. The session lasted until 11 o'clock. Numerous subjects were confidentially discussed. The enlargement of the Massillon Glass Works, as referred to at length in THE INDEPENDENT of some weeks ago, was brought up; also the enlargement of the rolling mill. The question of the form of improvement bond was argued, and a determination arrived at, also confidential. It was thought best, to request a future issue of refund bonds, to take in the entire indebtedness of the city of any nature.

Senator Howells announced that he would shortly introduce a bill to lease or sell the Ohio canal, which was at present a financial drain upon the state. He had no doubt that the bill would pass, and its effects would be of immediate advantage to the state and all cities along the canal line.

Newman.

Mr. Wm. Miller is seriously ill at this writing with throat trouble.

Martin Hardgrove is preparing to leave the farm and move to Massillon, where he has secured the position of bookkeeper for Mr. Willaman, the furniture dealer.

Mr. and Mrs. John Bell spent last Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Chaffer.

Prof. Ruch, of Canal Fulton, is now the musical instructor of our singing class.

J. D. Evans resigned the position of weighman at the Sippo coal mine last Saturday to accept the position of engineer at our brick works. He is succeeded at the mine by Ranals Hardgrove, son-in-law of Geo. W. Phillips.

The long-looked for and much-talked-of reorganization of the railway mail service between Pittsburg and Chicago went into operation Feb. 1, and we are pleased to note that our friend, D. E. Reese, is promoted to second clerk, with an increase in salary of $150 per annum, making his salary $1,150 per year. This is not a bad showing for a man who had worked in a coal mine until he attained his majority. The new deal places six additional men on this run. This proved to be necessary to meet the fast increasing demands. The weighing of the mail has not yet begun on the above road, the announcement of the Alliance Review to the contrary notwithstanding.

Word was received here on Monday evening by telegraph that Joseph Hall was killed at Caperton, W. Va. The news cast a gloom over our entire village, as the deceased was born and raised in our midst, was widely and favorably known, and was respected by all. He truly was one of the very best young men ever raised in this vicinity. He was the sole support of his mother and stepfather for years by sending them a portion of his earnings every pay day, and it was only last week that he sent them a valuable box of clothing. The remains are being conveyed to this place for interment.

It occurs to our mind that the Ohio miners' convention is biting off a little more than it can chew. It is generally looked upon that miners are to take the initiative steps toward inaugurating the eight hour movement. This being the case, we believe it would be wise not to burden the movement down too heavy with other issues.

ANOTHER RAILROAD MAN.

He Proposes to Connect Canton and Massillon.

There is a gentleman in the city today who talks electric railway between Canton and Massillon and in the streets of this city straight from the shoulder. His name is B. C. Eberly, and he is cashier of B. C. Eberly & Co.'s Commercial bank, located in Ohio City, Van Wert county. The gentleman arrived in town last night and made the object of his visit manifest this morning by seeking out a number of members of the board of trade and stating to them what he desired to do. Mr. Eberly's idea is to locate an electric railway between the two cities, but wants a right of way over the intervening farms, preferring that location to the public highway for the principal reason that greater speed could be attained, as there would be no interference by horses and vehicles. The requirements of Mr. Eberly, as far as known, would be a franchise for the use of the principal streets of Massillon and assistance in securing the right of way between the two cities. Mr. Eberly drove to Canton this afternoon to view the territory which would likely be traversed.

ECHOES FROM THE SHOPS.

Note and Comment on Men and Doings at Russell Co.'s.

It is reported that Mr. J. C. Farrell was able to be out of bed about an hour yesterday.

The ear-splitting chorus of the flange fire in operation is heard again.

The graceful side-long movement of the head with which Mr. Charles Moody greets all whom he chances to meet is the cause of many complimentary remarks. He would like to get rid of the boil on his neck.

In the construction of the headquarters of Messrs. E. J. Hamill and William Wagner the injunction of the scriptures has been observed by building upon a rock, though it will be well for them to observe the old adage that those who live in glass houses should never throw stones—it is all window.

By request of several of the boys who are participants in a dispute of long standing with reference to the silver question, from a non-partisan standpoint, the following, clipped from the Atlanta Constitution, is presented:

"WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—Tin sauce pans, pails, buckets and other household articles made of tin, as well as square plates of tin, covered a long table of the house committee on ways and means the last day of the week.

Representative Niederlinghaus, of Missouri, was in the room most of the time, and he explained to all inquirers the reason for the changed appearance of the room. The tins are samples of those which are being turned out every day at the works in St. Louis, and are wholly of American manufacture. The original work was done in the steel mills of Chattanooga, and the trimming in St. Louis.

The plant has only recently been established, and is now turning out about 300 cases tin plate a day. The ore comes from the Dutch islands, and the price of the manufactured article is about the same as when imported."

IN THE UNDERGROUND MAIL.

Mr. Wendell Fox has entirely recovered from the severe cold he contracted recently by having his hair cut so suddenly. It will be remembered by many how it has often been said that the Hon. John Hall, a practicing lawyer of Summit county, delighted in being called McSweeney No. 2 from letting his hair grow after the style of that distinguished lawyer. Some one has said that Mr. Fox was smitten about the same time, and we have often noticed the dramatic attitude he would strike as he brushed back, with a careless wave of the hand, those wavy locks, and scraped and scuffed when the eminent barrister's name chanced to be mentioned, as much as to say, Hem, just like me! It is whispered that while glancing over an illustrated paper the other day, he was very much disturbed by an excellent portrait of the late Sitting Bull and that he immediately repaired to the glass into which Mr. Jacob Simonsen often gazes so fondly. What he saw there is not known and doubtless never will be known, for he pulled his hat down over his face and with dispirited step and dejected air wended his weary way homeward. We are only permitted to draw our private conclusions from the fact that the next morning he appeared with his hair cut pompadour and his moustache waxed and curled a la Simonsen.

SCROFULA

Is that impurity of the blood which produces unsightly lumps or swellings in the neck; which causes running sores on the arms, legs, or feet; which develops ulcers in the eyes, ears, or nose, often causing blindness or deafness; which is the origin of pimples, cancerous growths, or "humors;" which, fastening upon the lungs, causes consumption and death. It is the most ancient of all diseases, and very few persons are entirely free from it.

How Can It Be CURED

By taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, by the remarkable cures it has accomplished, has proven itself to be a potent and peculiar medicine for this disease. If you suffer from scrofula, try Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"Every spring my wife and children have been troubled with scrofula, my little boy, three years old, being a terrible sufferer. Last spring he was one mass of sores from head to foot. We all took Hood's Sarsaparilla, and all have been cured of the scrofula. My little boy is entirely free from sores, and all four of my children look bright and healthy."

About Valentines.

The valentine is with us again. These symbolic offerings at the shrine of love continue to be bought and sent, and each year brings new and attractive ideas, many of which are distinctly novel and original, while in the higher and more artistic efforts of the manufacturers there is a marked tendency toward more dainty embellishments and correct taste in expression.

The line displayed this season by the Independent Company is the cream of the market. The efforts are more artistic, the designs more beautiful, the variety larger, and the prices cheaper than ever before.

A PERSONAL STATEMENT.

SENATOR INGALLS EXPLAINS HIS ATTITUDE ON THE CLOTURE.

He Would Have Voted Against the Cloture

—He Was in Favor of an Impartial Election Law, but the Proposed Measure Did Not Meet His Approval—Pension Appropriation Bill Passed—Sundry Civil Bill in the House—Eight-Hour Bill Up.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—Mr. Ingalls made a statement in the senate Thursday, in the course of which he declared that he was still a good Republican. After a number of bills had been reported and placed on the calendar, among them one increasing the pension of Gen. Custer's widow to $100 a month, Mr. Ingalls claimed the attention of the senate. Rising to a personal statement, he said that he had been absent from the sessions of the senate during the past two weeks, in which interval action had been taken on the cloture and on the election bill. His attitude on both these questions had been the subject of comment and censure and of animadversion. On the day of his departure, after consultation with Mr. Allison, on whom he had been accustomed to lean in every hour of need, he had left with Mr. Casey (who had charge of the pairs of absentees) a note saying: "I should vote Against the Proposed Change of the rules and should vote for a motion to proceed to the consideration of any other than the election bill; and am paired accordingly with Senator Allison, who is at liberty to vote to make a quorum." Mr. Ingalls had been opposed (he said) unalterably opposed, to the adoption of the cloture, for many reasons sufficient and satisfactory to himself. He had no arrangement, agreement or understanding, express or implied, direct or indirect, remote or contingent, to have his vote counted against the passage of the election bill; and in that statement he was convinced that he would be confirmed and corroborated by the senator from Iowa. He was as ready now, as he had always been, to proceed with its consideration and with modifications which he had always believed essential to support it to the end. He had been a Republican since the party was born and had voted "without variableness or shadow of turning" for every Republican candidate. During that period he had never espoused a cause which he believed to be wrong, because it was popular, and had never refused to advocate a cause which he believed to be Right because it was Unpopular. He had recently expressed no opinion on political, social or economic questions which he had not long entertained and to which he had not given frequent utterance in the senate chamber and elsewhere. Those leaders who had conducted the most powerful political organization known in American history to the most stupendous and overwhelming disaster received in its annals, might well pardon those who were disposed to doubt the infallibility of their judgment. If they were wise they would be less proscriptive, and more tolerant of differences of opinion among their associates on questions of opinion on which differences might be allowed, especially among those whose devotion to human liberty had never been questioned and whose constancy and fortitude had been exposed to tests as severe, at least, as any which they had ever known.

The Pension Appropriation Bill was taken up. It appropriates for pensions for the year $133,173,085; for fees and expenses of examining surgeons, $1,500,000; for salaries of eighteen pension agents, $72,000, and for clerk hire, $300,000. The latter item is increased by an amendment of the committee on appropriations to $400,000. Another amendment strikes out the proviso limiting to $2 the compensation of a pension attorney and asserts in lieu of it a proviso limiting such compensation to $5. The latter amendment gave rise to a very long discussion. Mr. Cockrell offered an amendment providing that hereafter no pension shall be allowed or paid to any officer, non-commissioned officer or private in the army, navy or marine corps on the active or retired list. Agreed to. All the military amendments having been agreed to, the bill was passed. Mr. Stewart not offering the amendment of which he had given notice—to insert the free coinage bill as part of the pension appropriation bill. The senate then took up the house bill to provide for the adjustment of accounts of laborers, workmen and mechanics arising under the eight-hour law. Mr. Blair stated the facts and circumstances which formed the basis of the bill. The act declaring Eight Hours a Day's Work for all laborers, workmen and mechanics in government employment had been passed in June, 1868. Some of the government departments had violated the law immediately after its enactment and had required of their workmen nine, ten or more hours per day. President Grant had, in 1869, issued a proclamation calling attention to the violation of the law and insisting on its observance by officers of the government. That proclamation had been itself violated, and in 1872 an act had been passed providing for the payment for the extra time. During the Hayes and Arthur administrations the law had again been violated and for about four years workmen had had to work two hours a day additional. Mr. Dawes gave notice of an amendment in the way of a substitute requiring payment for overtime, notwithstanding any agreement to the contrary. Mr. Morrill said that he desired to address the senate upon the bill Friday and asked that it be laid aside informally. It was so ordered. After a short executive session the senate, at 5:15, adjourned.

Proceedings in the House. In the house, on motion of Mr. McKinley, of Ohio, by unanimous consent it was ordered that during the remainder of the session the house shall meet at 11 o'clock A. M. The house then went into committee of the whole (Mr. Payson, of Illinois, in the chair) on the sundry civil appropriation bill. The bill was read by paragraphs for amendment. Matters ran smoothly until the paragraph providing for the expenses of the inter-state commerce commission was reached, when Mr. Anderson, of Kansas, offered an amendment directing the commission to inquire into the facts relating to the Western Railroad Traffic association. After some discussion, a point of order, raised against the amendment, was sustained. Mr. Bland, of Missouri, offered a silver free coinage amendment to the paragraph providing for the recoinage of gold and silver coins. The amendment is as follows: That all holders of silver bullion, of standard weight and fineness, shall be entitled to have the same coined into silver dollars on the same terms and conditions as are now provided for the holders of gold bullion. Mr. Dingley, of Maine, raised a point of order against the amendment, and the debate which was followed was entirely technical in its character. Pending a decision the committee rose and the house adjourned.

A WRECKLESS HUSBAND.

He Spends a Fortune for His Wife and Wants to Spend More.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—James W. Finch secured a writ of habeas corpus from Judge Andrews, in supreme court chambers, requiring his wife, Winifred K., to show cause why he should not have the custody of their two children. Through her counsel, Judge Noah Davis, she put in an answer stating that they were married in 1882, and that he left her without proper cause. She lives at No. 136 West Eighty-second street and owns the house. She claims to have inherited a large property from her father, Isaac Kip, and to be able to provide for the children. She says she cancelled about $47,000 of her husband's notes given from money mostly borrowed from her father, and which were left to her. Her husband failed in business last year and wanted to borrow $50,000 from her. She declined to give it. She asserts that he is now living with his father.

One of the Oldest Falls.

WICHITA, KAN., Feb. 6.—Just before the hour for opening yesterday the following notice was posted on the door of the first Arkansas valley bank here: "To our depositors: Payment temporarily suspended, owing to the impossibility of making collections and inability to procure funds at the present time from our correspondents, owing to the great stringency now prevailing. The assets of the bank are said to be more than twice sufficient to pay all liabilities, which are about $125,000. The bank was the oldest in Southwestern Kansas."

Placed a Tub to Catch the Blood.

NASHVILLE, TENN., Feb. 6.—Dan M. Davidson, an advertising solicitor for The Daily American, committed suicide yesterday afternoon, at his room on North Vine street, by severing his jugular vein with a razor. When found he had been dead sometime, and was lying with his head in a small tub, which he had placed to catch the blood. Davidson was just recovering from a big spree.

Two Counterfeiters Arrested.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—The treasury department was informed of the arrest yesterday in Louisville, Ky., of Enoch Bradson and C. S. Steward, manufacturers and dealers in counterfeit silver dollars. The arrests were effected by M. G. Bauer, moulds, metal and a large amount of finished and unfinished coins were seized with the counterfeiters.

NINE ORPHANS PERISHED.

An Asylum at Moscow Totally Destroyed by Fire. MOSCOW, Feb. 6.—A terrible fire occurred in an orphan asylum in this city Thursday. The building was burned to the ground and the most horrible scenes were witnessed as the youthful inmates were being rescued. Nine children were burned to death and a number of others were so seriously injured that their lives are despaired of.

Inter-State Commercial Display.

GALVESTON, TEX., Feb. 6.—A great inter-state commercial display and Mardi Gras opened here yesterday. The city is crowded with visitors and the decorations are abundant and gay. The industrial display, in which Colorado, New Mexico, Kansas, Arizona and other states are represented, is an extremely creditable one. The festivities will continue for five days.

Entered Into a Traffic Agreement.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—The reports current that the Mobile and Ohio and Chicago and Alton roads have entered into a traffic agreement are practically confirmed, although no official action has been taken. The officers of the Mobile and Ohio say that it is a natural alliance, and that they are already receiving a large amount of business from the Alton road.

No Money for Legislators.

LITTLE ROCK, ARK., Feb. 6.—In consequence of the shortage in the Arkansas state treasury, Col. Morrow, the new treasurer, has firmly refused to pay the members of the legislature. Gov. Eagle has sent special requests to all county collectors to send in all state moneys on hand to meet the necessities of the general assembly.

It Was Outright Murder.

CHICAGO, Feb. 6.—Col. Cody, better known as Buffalo Bill, who has just arrived here says in reference to Sitting Bull's death: "I know the inside history of the killing. It was outright murder, but I prefer not to talk about it until the government investigating committee has made its report."

LATE NEWS IN BRIEF.

The city poor house, at Waterville, Me., was burned Thursday. A girl, aged 15, was burned to death. The thirteen other inmates escaped. The cause of the fire was a defective chimney. The report that hundreds of families were fleeing from New Denver, near Denver, because the mountains were on fire is untrue. The fire is confined to the coal mine, and the loss will be small. The pope, in reply to earnest requests upon the subject, has been compelled to decline to make an official communication to the French bishops on the attitude which they are to assume toward the republic. A sensation has developed in the arrest of J. A. Shipman, a prominent lawyer of Kearney, Neb., who is charged with forging notes and mortgages aggregating $10,000 in connection with a transfer of Omaha real estate. Two-thirds of the total amount of the Baltimore acceptance have now been returned, and the prospect of a satisfactory liquidation is brighter than ever. The remaining assets will be taken over by a syndicate, in order to effect a clearance of the miscellaneous securities. Gladstone has given the required assurances justifying Mr. Parnell in retiring from the leadership of his section of the Irish parliamentary party. Mr. Dillon will replace Mr. McCarthy as leader of the McCarthyite section, and will be selected as leader of the reunited party.

SENATOR PLUMB'S GUESTS.

THEY ARRANGE AN ORDER OF BUSINESS FOR THE SENATE.

Forty Republican Senators Assembled at the Metropolitan Club to dine with the Senator—Appropriation Bills and Conference Reports to Have Preference Over Other Business—Any Bill on the Programme That Promises to Excite Opposition Will be Skipped.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—About forty Republican senators assembled at the Metropolitan club last night, ostensibly to dine as guests of Senator Plumb, but really to arrange an order of business for the senate. It was decided to take up the eight-hour bill Friday and to have it followed in the order named by the copyright, Nicaragua canal, Padlock pure food and Conger land bills, the bill to establish a private land claims court, the bill to allow limited pooling by railroad companies, the bankruptcy bill and the Pacific railroad funding bill. It was also determined that appropriation bills and conference reports should have preference over other business with the understanding that the order should be reverted to when no privileged matters are before the senate. An agreement to skip any bill on the programme that promised to excite too much opposition was also reached.

CONSCIENCE STRICKEN.

A Guilty Young Man Pleads Not Guilty and Faints.

PARKERSBURG, W. VA., Feb. 6.—A sensational episode was witnessed in the United States court room in this city, when it was crowded with witnesses, spectators and court officials. Wm. Edgell was arraigned for violating the pension laws and pleaded with much earnestness and bravado "not guilty." The trial was proceeding when, without a word of warning, he fell to the floor unconscious. He was removed, restoratives applied and soon returned to consciousness. He came in shortly after and pleaded "guilty." When questioned about his actions he said that his conscience accused him so strongly after making the false plea that he fainted away, and recovering himself concluded to tell the truth. He received a light sentence.

STOLEN GOLD.

Vast Treasures Taken from Peru and Buried.

BOSTON, Feb. 6.—Mrs. Richard Young, wife of an East Boston ship builder, tells a romantic story of a vast treasure of gold and jewels taken from the wealthy people of Peru by the crew of the schooner Mary Deer, of which her father, John Keating, was one, in 1840, and buried in Cocos island, 600 miles due west of Cape Mariata, at the entrance to Panama bay. By various vicissitudes Keating became the sole surviving keeper of the secret, and when he died, he told his secret to Mrs. Young. His widow subsequently sold his charts, etc., to Mrs. Knight, of Brooklyn, who sent a ship to look for the treasure in 1885.

COKE REGION STIRRED UP.

It Has Been Decided to Strike on Tuesday—Both Sides Still Firm.

SCOTTSDALE, PA., Feb. 6.—But little change is noticeable in the coke situation. Both sides are still firm, and there is every reason to warrant the belief that there will be a strike. The operators say they will close their works if the miners do not accept the proposed reduction of 10 per cent. by next Tuesday, and the miners have set the same day for striking if operators do not concede to their demands. The region is stirred up over the intended movement, and it is generally dreaded.

FIVE MILLIONS MORE.

World's Fair Managers Will Ask Congress for an Appropriation.

CHICAGO, Feb. 6.—The ways and means committee of the National World's Columbian Exposition has decided to ask congress to appropriate $5,000,000 in aid of the World's Fair. The matter will be laid before the next congress, as the present one is too near the end of the session to get it through.

Organized by Alliance Men.

WICHITA, KAN., Feb. 6.—A number of prominent alliance men organized here yesterday the Wichita Live Stock association, with a capital stock of $100,000. The first directors have been elected. The shares will be placed among alliance farmers at $25 each, and no stockholder will be allowed more than twenty shares, nor will any one be allowed more than one vote, matters how many shares he may have invested. Offices will be established at union stock yards and complete control taken, so far as possible, of all shipments of stock sent here by alliance men.

Church and School at DuBois Burned.

DUBOIS, PA., Feb. 6.—Early yesterday morning the Baptist church in the Third ward was discovered to be on fire. Nothing could be done to stay the flames, and it burned to the ground. Shortly afterward the First ward school house also burned. Nothing but the charred and broken frame is left standing.

Twenty-Seven Divorce Suits.

READING, PA., Feb. 6.—During the past few days twenty-seven divorce suits have been instituted here. This is an unprecedented number and has caused considerable comment. Most of the suits are brought by women who have been deserted by their husbands.

Reciprocity with Brazil.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—The first prints of the reciprocity clause of the McKinley tariff came to hand yesterday, when President Harrison issued a formal proclamation announcing that a reciprocity agreement has been effected with Brazil under the new tariff law.

An Engineer and Fireman Killed.

GREENSBURG, PA., Feb. 6.—The second section of No. 7 ran into a freight near New Florence yesterday, killing the fireman, C. H. Bell, of Altoona, and Engineer Burbank, of No. 7. All the cars of No. 7 were thrown down over a steep embankment.

THE TWINE TRUST.

Suit Brought in Xenia to Recover Money on Contract.

XENIA, O., Feb. 6.—A legal struggle was begun in the common pleas court, which will be of interest to people all over the country. Two of our big twine and cordage companies, the Field and the Hoover & Allison, filed attachment suits against the property of the Xenia Twine and Cordage company, which is a branch of the National company, known as the "Twine Trust." The suits are for $11,250 each, being one-quarter of the annual amount each was to get for the use of their bindertwine spindles, which they leased to the National Cordage company one year ago for a term of five years. They had been paid one year's stipend, but when the quarterly sum was due Jan. 1 the National Cordage company began to show weakness, and finally repudiated the contract.

NOT HER BRAIN.

An Autopsy Shows the Cause of the Springfield Cataleptic's Strange Death.

SPRINGFIELD, O., Feb. 6.—Local physicians held an autopsy on Minnie Markley, the 18-year-old orphan girl, and found hypostatic congestion of lungs, due to the weak action of the heart, but the primary cause of death was venacular inflammation of the liver. Her disorder and perceptibly weak condition, and the shock and excitement brought on by the charge of being the cause of the McGowan fires, hastened her death. Her entranced condition was due to the condition of her nervous system. She was in all appearances healthy, and the fits were caused by derangement of the organs spoken of, and not from any affection of the brain.

ONE OF THE LARGEST.

An East Liverpool Pottery Company Casts Aside Its Model Garb.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., Feb. 6.—The former modest firm of C. C. Thompson & Co., manufacturers of Rockingham, yellow and cream-colored ware, has just merged into one of the largest joint stock pottery companies in this section and will now be known as the C. C. Thompson Pottery company, capital stock $100,000. No new stockholders were taken in. The officers of the new company are C. C. Thompson, president; B. C. Simms, vice president, and J. C. Thompson, secretary and treasurer. This pottery now packs more ware by the car load than any other concern in the city.

Safe Blowers Got in Their Work.

MILLERSBURG, O., Feb. 6.—Safe blowers got in their work in the store of Charles W. Stuber at Killbuck. He found the safe door lying several feet from the safe and money, watches and jewelry belonging to Mr. Stuber, valued at $1,200, taken, besides $300 in money belonging to the Killbuck Brownstone company. Mr. Stuber is township treasurer of Killbuck township and came to Millersburg to draw the February apportionment due his township, amounting to $3,000, but his papers not being right he did not get it. This money is what the burglars were after.

Price Not at All Bothered.

LIMA, O., Feb. 6.—Hon. Calvin S. Eric arrived here from Washington to look after some business matters. When asked about the resolution introduced at Columbus, protesting against his taking his seat in the senate, he said: "Those fellows at Columbus have nothing to do with the case. They seem to think that because I got what I wanted last winter I should keep still and let the rest of them alone, but they don't bother me any."

Heart Disease Caused by Fright.

DAYTON, O., Feb. 6.—At a fire on John Kindigs' farm, Mrs. Kindigs' mother, 80 years old, became frightened and went out to assist. Her daughter took her in the house and placed her in an easy chair. After the fire was subdued, Mrs. Kindigs went into the house and was horrified to find her mother dead in the chair. She died of heart disease caused by fright.

Farmers Fighting Manufactured Butter.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Feb. 6.—The Farmers' alliance here proposes compelling the deputy milk and food inspector to do his duty. The alliance asserts that twenty-nine grocers here are selling oleomargarine contrary to law, preventing farmers from obtaining a market for their butter. The alliance will prosecute the matter at once.

Thirteen Wards Instead of Eight.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Feb. 6.—The city council (democratic) has introduced an ordinance which provides in substance that the city shall be divided into thirteen wards instead of eight wards, as it has been for a number of years.

Died While Sweeping.

LIMA, O., Feb. 6.—Mrs. Cochran, a lady aged 60 years, died suddenly while sweeping. She fell to the floor and expired with the broom in her hand. Supposed heart disease.

Ghost Dancers Return Home.

CHAMBERLAIN, S. D., Feb. 6.—Seventeen ghost dancers, who were arrested at Lower Brule agency early in the Indian troubles and taken to Ft. Snelling and confined, returned to their homes yesterday. Hundreds of their people gathered to greet them. The seventeen were neatly dressed in their uniforms, had their hair cut and looked differently than they did when arrested.

The Glove Fight Did Not Come Off.

LONG ISLAND CITY, L. I., Feb. 6.—The glove fight between Cat. McCarthy and George Dixon, the colored boxer of Boston, did not take place at the Puritan Athletic club last night as warrants for the principals, who were charged with an intention to figure in a prize fight, were sworn out by members of the Jefferson club, an organization opposed to Mayor Gleason's administration.

An Early Morning Blaze.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—A fire early this morning in the five-story building at Manhattan and Ash streets, Greenpoint, L. I., occupied by Ed. Church, as a soda water factory, caused a damage of $200,000 to stock and building. The entire block is occupied by the factory.

The Free Coinage Men Defeated.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—At the meeting of the coinage committee the free coinage men were defeated in the attempt to limit the hearings on the silver bill by a vote of 7 to 5.

PERISHED IN A SNOWSLIDE

FOUR MEN SACRIFICE THEIR LIVES TO SAVE A COMRADE.

At a Point on the Mountain at an Altitude of 13,000 Feet a Heavy Body of Snow Was Detached and They Were Hurled Down the Mountain and Buried Fifty Feet Beneath the Mass Which Packed Over Them Solid as Ice—Rescuers' Noble Work.

OURAY, COLO., Feb. 6.—News has just reached here from Mount Sneffels of the death of four Virginian miners, who perished in a snow slide. They started out of the mine Wednesday evening to help bring in Billy Maher, who had been blown up in his cabin about a mile distant. At a point on the mountain, and at an altitude of 13,000 feet, a heavy body of snow was detached and Tom Byron, L. Phillips, Allen McIntyre and John Sanderling, were hurled down the mountain and buried fifty feet beneath the mass, which was packed above their bodies as solid as ice. The bodies were not recovered until yesterday afternoon. Men worked with all their power, but could not reach them sooner. Billy Maher, for whom these men lost their lives, arrived at the hospital yesterday and may recover. He will lose one of his eyes and will be sadly disfigured. The cabin in which the explosion of dynamite took place was blown into thousands of fragments.

ASTRICKEN COMMUNITY.

Pumping the Water from the Mine Where Eighteen Men Perished.

HAZLETON, PA., Feb. 6.—The disaster in the Jeannette mine has plunged the community into grief and mourning. Great crowds gathered yesterday at the mine, which is about a mile and a half from this place. It is certain that the eighteen missing men are all dead, and that most of them met their death by drowning. Everything is now directed toward recovering the bodies of the unfortunate victims. By constant pumping the water was lowered about thirty-five inches, which, with the fact that the water in the old No. 8 slope did not fall at all, indicates that a great deal of water from the old workings is finding its way into No. 1, and this water may prolong the finding of the bodies for months to come.

THE OHIO LEGISLATURE.

The House Spent Most of the Day Discussing Mr. Hysell's Bill—Several Important Bills Introduced in the Senate.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 6.—The house spent the most of the day in discussing Mr. Hysell's bill preventing railroad companies and officers from engaging in the business of mining or dealing in coal, stone, lumber, iron, grain or certain other products along the line of their road, and to prevent discrimination in freight rates in favor of companies. Mr. Hysell stated it was in the interest of small coal miners, who are now crowded out by railroads. Mr. McKelvey, of Belmont, agreed with the author. Mr. McGraw thought the law going into force at once would impose hardships on the companies and Mr. Hysell amended it so as to make it effective in 1892. The bill was postponed until next Thursday, in the meantime the bill to be referred to a select committee consisting of Messrs. Hysell, Price, McGraw and Laylin, for an investigation of the subject matter. Mr. Palmer's fee bill for Cuyahoga county passed the house. The law repeals the sections applicable to the sheriff, probate judge and clerk and leaves them to scoop in the fees the same as two years ago before the saloon bill was passed.

Sent to Proceedings.

Several important bills were introduced in the senate. Mr. Corcoran, chairman of the joint committee on municipal reform, introduced a bill providing a new form of government for Cincinnati. It embodies the principal features of the commercial club bill, and is based on the federal plan. There is an executive, legislative and judicial department, and all boards are to be non-partisan and appointed by the mayor, except the board of revision, which has the control of taxes, which is to be appointed by the superior court. Senator Sencratt has been informed that some county commissioners have allowed the auditor and treasurer as high as 6 per cent. for collecting the Dow tax. Mr. Sencratt offered a bill amending the law so as to fix the allowance at only one-half of 1 per cent. of the Dow tax. Senator Gaumer introduced a bill appropriating $15,000 to purchase pre-historic mounds in Licking county. The vote on the Hysell bill for the levy of one-twentieth of a mill for the support of the Ohio state university was 75 to 15. It is believed that the senate will pass the bill almost unanimously.

Bill Passed in the Senate.

Mr. Shaw, enlarging the duties of the canal commission, so that they shall have authority to employ assistance and have a record of canal lands made in each county. Mr. Adams, requiring private banks to pay taxes on the monthly average of cash on hand, without deducting their liabilities. Mr. Wiegman, allowing the trustees of a school district of Union township, Ross county, to pay Solomon M. Daryl $120 as a teacher, he having been under age when so employed.

Hid It in a Barrel of Flour.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 6.—Thomas Armstrong, a farmer living near Madera, 17 miles from here, reports a burglary and the loss of $2,400 in money. He had drawn the money from a bank in Cincinnati to use in buying a farm. He placed it in a tin can and hid the can in a barrel of flour in the kitchen.

CONDENSED OHIO NEWS.

WASHINGTON GOSSIP.

UNIFORMED POLICEMEN AT THE WHITE HOUSE RECEPTIONS.

The Great American Game of Poker, and How a Count Played It with Success. Millionaire Senators and Their Care for the Elusive Nickel.

(Special Correspondence.)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—One of the features of a White House reception which foreigners severely criticize is the presence of uniformed policemen of the city squad in the parlors and corridors. It certainly is not pleasant for counts and countesses, barons and baronesses, nor for people of refined tastes who cannot lay claims to titles, to rub up against a big, burly policeman.

THE POLICEMAN AT THE WHITE HOUSE. man with a half week's growth of beard on his face, his uniform, buttons, star, club and all suggesting more the street corner than the parlors of a president's house. A policeman is a useful agent of society in his proper place, but I submit his proper place is not in the executive mansion among ladies and gentlemen of high degree.

One would not be likely to go a second time to the house of a private gentleman in which policemen were stationed among the guests, possibly for the purpose of arresting the disorderly or keeping an eye on the silver. It is a shock to one's sensibilities to come up short against a policeman in the long corridor of the White House, and it does not relieve one's feelings any to discover that the officer is fresh from his beat, perhaps in the slums of the town, where it may have been his duty to arrest malefactors of exceeding viciousness and vulgarity. Of course there is an excuse for it, and it is no new thing. Policemen from the city squad have been detailed for the executive mansion on reception occasions for many years, and the responsibility cannot be laid at the door of any one in particular. The fault is in the way we republicans of the greatest republic have of running things. In the first place, our White House or executive palace is very much too small for the ceremonial purposes to which it is so often put, and in the second place the regular staff of employees, servants and watchmen is much too limited.

I have made inquiries about this, with the result of ascertaining that it is physically impossible for the regular employees of the mansion, on account of their limited number, to "handle" the crowds which attend the president's levees and card receptions. They have all they can do to guard the door, see that the "line" is kept moving in good order and to attend to the cloak and hat rooms. Outside the house, where the coachmen are to be called and occasionally disciplined for the coachman's chief fault, that of crowding and overreaching, and inside the house, where prudence demands the presence of guards and watchmen in case of accident or panic, policemen from the squad have to be employed. Sometimes officers are sent in citizen's dress, but of late the custom has been to send them in full uniform. The proper remedy for this is to give the president a staff of employees commensurate with his station and his requirements.

When the president of the United States sleeps he is guarded by the same policemen who guard, or who are supposed to guard, private citizens. Only one man, and he a night watchman, who, in addition to his other duties looks after the fire lights, is specially detailed to stand sentry over the sleeping head of the nation. After midnight he is the only man awake within the White House premises. It is a peculiar fact, and one on which I have heard foreigners comment in surprised tones, that half a dozen resolute men could assault the executive mansion in the dead of night, break down the door, or force entrance through a window, and murder the president in his bed. They would have but the one watchman to deal with, and by taking him unawares they might even prevent him turning in an alarm.

Perhaps the other ruler is left thus practically unguarded, without soldiery or sentries. At a very late hour one recent

THE SWALLOW TAIL POKER CLUB. night, my homeward way lying by the White House, I satisfied my curiosity by walking around the grounds. Not a human being was to be seen. The gates were all locked, but by way of experiment I jumped over the fence in the rear part of the grounds and walked across the park, not far from the mansion. Had I been observed there would have been some explaining to do; but no one saw me, and even the big mastiff that sleeps in a dog house between the White House and the treasury uttered not a sound.

A young man who is a member of one of the numerous poker clubs of Washington tells me he was returning home at a late hour one recent morning when he saw two suspicious looking men prowling around the White House grounds. They were rough looking fellows, and he thought they were there for no good purpose, though the fence looking at the mansion, where the ladies are kept burning all night long in the port cochere. The young man mentioned the matter to the first policeman he met on his homeward way, and the officer afterward told him he had investigated the case with an unexpected result.

The men were simply two honest fellows who had landed in town from the north late at night, expecting to continue their journey to the south without interruption, but their train being late, and missing connections in consequence, they had started out to see the town during the night, as they were to leave on an early train next morning. They had never been in Washington, and were naturally eager to improve this chance opportunity to see the executive mansion, the monument, the Capitol and other public buildings. Happily there is no necessity of surrounding the sleeping ruler of this country with a cordon of soldiery. He slumbers as securely, unguarded, as the humblest citizen.

The young man who told me this incident is an attaché of one of the foreign legations. A craze for the great American game of draw poker has taken possession of many of these attachés, and they have a club all their own, to which but few outsiders are admitted. The young diplomats, being men of fashion, could not institute a poker club without paying some regard to the proprieties of polite society, and hence one of their rules is that no one shall sit in their game unless he is in full evening dress. The club is on this account known as the "Swallow-tail Poker club."

Though the foreigners are not able to play the American game in the characteristic American way—with their coats off and collars and cuffs laid aside—they are pretty good players, and the natives who have sought entrance to their coterie for the purpose of winning foreign cash have not met with much success.

Among the best poker players in Washington are the newspaper correspondents. There is one correspondent whose luck or skill, or whatever it may be, has given him the sobriquet of "The Pirate." This correspondent is on friendly terms with a certain Count B—, attaché of one of the legations, and having heard the count say he had played poker a little and would like to learn more of the game, the newspaper man gave a poker party at his house in the count's honor, with the count, of course, depended upon to pay the expenses. In visiting several other correspondents, as good players as himself, the host said to them:

"Now, boys, I ask you to go easy on my friend the count. He couldn't be expected to know the game as well as we do, and while I am willing he should lose a moderate sum I don't want him robbed in my house. Go light on him."

Well, the game was played. The sitting continued until daylight, and when the chips were cashed in it was found that the only winner was the young count. All the others had contributed various sums, small or large, to his net profits.

Some of the greatest and richest senators play poker. Senators Stanford and Sawyer do not play the great American game, but they have a vivid appreciation of the value of the great American nickel. A few days ago the occupants of the senate galleries were much amused at an incident which occurred on the floor below. Senator Sawyer or Senator Stanford, it was not clear which, had dropped a nickel under the desk of the latter, and both were searching for it with all the zest of two schoolboys in danger of being cheated of their nickel's worth of gum drops. Senator Sawyer, who is very large and fat, with much difficulty got down on his knees, while Senator Stanford, who is also a heavy man, without much suppleness in his limbs, nearly broke his back bending forward in quest of the elusive nickel.

Finally the missing coin was rescued from under the desk, and as the two many time millionaires straightened up a young man in the press gallery whose salary is $30 a week, remarked: "They might have saved themselves the trouble. If they had sent a page up here I would have given them a nickel apiece." It is needless to add that this cynical young man wholly misunderstood the situation. The senators had taken so much trouble to find the coin not through penuriousness, for both are generous with their dollars, but on account of the habit, strong in most men of wealth, of taking care of the pennies and nickels, knowing that the dollars will take care of themselves.

Senator Sawyer is one of the nicest old fellows in the world. A few days ago he left the senate chamber and walked out to the elevator, on his way to his committee room, which is in the basement. The elevator was going up at that moment with a number of newspaper men aboard. But the conductor, in obedience to instructions, stopped the car, took the senator on, and was about to return to the basement, when the senator remarked: "Take these boys on up to the gallery. I guess they are in a hurry. I am not."

Visitors to the Capitol are often much puzzled by the erratic and seemingly impudent conduct of the elevator conductors in the senate wing. Step into the car at the basement, tell the man you want to go to the gallery, and he will carry you straight up, providing no one appears at the chamber floor and indicates a desire to go down. If a senator does come aboard, going down, you may get out and walk up to the gallery or enjoy the sport of riding down and back again. On the return journey another senator may appear, and down to the basement you go once more, unless you prefer to walk. Or if you want to get off at the senate floor, and there chances to be in the car a senator who wants to go to the gallery, the elevator will shoot by your destination in order to get to the great man's stopping place the more quickly. If then another senator steps aboard from the gallery and ejaculates "basement" to the conductor, down you drop to the bottom floor, past your destination again, like a shuttlecock that never stops midway of its orbit. After one has been thus shuffled to and fro for ten or fifteen minutes he begins to realize the importance and the dignity of the United States senate. It is only in the northern end of the Capitol that elevators are made limited express trains for the benefit of statesmen, no matter at how much inconvenience to common way passengers. Members of the house of representatives take their chances with the rest of us.

RAILROAD DISCRIMINATION.

A Measure of Importance to All Coal Operators.

The Cleveland Leader's Columbus correspondent writes: "The bill by Speaker Hyatt to prevent railroad companies from engaging in mining pursuits was called up as a special order by its author, at 11:30 yesterday morning. The measure seeks 'to prevent railroad companies in the state of Ohio, and the directors and officers thereof from the business of mining or dealing in coal, stone, lumber, iron, grain, and certain other products, along the line of said railroad, and to amend sections 3315 and 3316, Revised Statutes, and to prevent discrimination in freight rates in favor of said railroad companies or its officials or employees.'"

"Speaker Hyatt spoke at some length upon the bill. He said that under the present system railroad companies practically have a monopoly on dealing in coal from all fields through which their lines pass."

"Mr. McKelvey, of Belmont, followed in a speech of some length in favor of the bill. He said that the Cleveland, Lorain & Wheeling railroad had bamboozled the people in the coal field along their line. He claimed that this railroad company had kept carloads of coal standing on the side track, while their own had been taken to market."

"After some further discussion the bill was postponed until February 19, and made a special order for 2 o'clock on that day."

SUFFRAGISTS IN SESSION.

Preparing to Continue the Campaign with Vim and Vigor.

The Columbus correspondent of the Cleveland Plain Dealer writes: "The state executive committee of the Ohio Woman Suffrage Association have been in Columbus in executive session for the past three days. The Ohio Woman Suffrage Association has now a constituency of over 20,000 persons with a constantly increasing membership. Thirty-two new organizations have been formed since last September and this work is still going forward."

"The following ladies are present. Mrs. Caroline McC. Everhard, Massillon, chairman; Mrs. Martha H. Elwell, president of the Ohio association; Mrs. Louisa Southworth, Cleveland, vice president of Ohio of the national association; Mrs. E. S. Fray, Toledo; Mrs. Laura L. Segur, Toledo, recording secretary; Miss Sara Winthrop Smith, Cincinnati; Mrs. Booth, Cleveland."

"Twenty-nine auxiliary societies asked for a local constitution, and considerable time was spent in preparing one. This afternoon the committee visited the hall of the House of Representatives in favor of Mr. Griffith's bill to amend article 5, section 1, of the revised statutes, by striking out the word 'male.'"

A Good Record.—"I have sold Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for ten years," says druggist E. B. Legg, of Vail, Ia., "and have always warranted it and never had a bottle returned. During the past 90 days I have sold twelve dozen and it has given perfect satisfaction in every instance." It does not dry up a cough, but loosens and relieves it. It will cure a severe cold in less time than other treatment. 50 cent and $1 bottles for sale by Morgenthaler & Heister.

One of my children had a very bad discharge from her nose. Two physicians prescribed, but without benefit. We tried Ely's Cream Balm, and, much to our surprise, there was a marked improvement. We continued using the Balm and in a short time the discharge was cured.—O. A. Cary, Corning, N. Y.

A gentleman in Union county, Mo., who is too modest a man to have his name mentioned in the newspapers, was cured of rheumatism by Chamberlain's Pain Balm, after trying other medicines and treatments for thirteen years. 50 cent bottles for sale by Morgenthaler & Heister.

Epoch.

The transition from long, lingering and painful sickness to robust health marks an epoch in the life of the individual. Such a remarkable event is treasured in the memory and the agency whereby the good health has been attained is gratefully blessed. Hence it is that so much is heard in praise of Electric Bitters. So many feel they owe their restoration to health, to the use of the Great Alternative and Tonic. If you are troubled with any disease of Kidneys, Liver or Stomach, of long or short standing you will surely find relief by use of Electric Bitters.
